Tulku Sherdor is the founder of Blazing Wisdom Institute in New York. Born in Montreal, Canada in 1961, he began studying Buddhist meditation from a very young age, and met his first principal teacher, Tulku Urgyen Rinpoche, in Nepal in 1981. He has studied with many preeminent masters of the 20th century, including His Holiness Dilgo Khyentse Rinpoche, Dung Say Trinley Norbu Rinpoche, Chokyi Nyima Rinpoche, Kalu Rinpoche, and many others. He served his principal teacher H. H. Orgyen Kusum Lingpa in countless ways from 1997 through 2009, and is a senior Tulku in Lung Ngon Tubten Chokorling, in Golog, Tibet. Tulku Sherdor began serving the dharma more than thirty years ago by translating for a number of distinguished Nyingma and Kagyu meditation masters. He was also formally trained in the western legal system and was counsel to one of America's prestigious litigation firms for years. He has published nine books on varied topics, including commentaries and translation on Buddhist Liturgy, and essays that examine important contemporary social issues. Tulku Sherdor's illuminating and engaging teachings are invaluable to his fortunate students all over the world on the dharma path.
